Antitrust law and regulation papers available on the Web

Centre of Antitrust and Regulatory Studies (University of Warsaw) issues a Yearbook of Antitrust and Regulatory studies.

Energy Regulatory Office recommends visiting CSAIR website, where one can find interesting and free publications concerning antitrust law and regulation issues.

Centre of Antitrust and Regulatory Studies (hereinafter: CSAiR) is an interdisciplinary research unit within the University of Warsaw, which activity is concentrated on two key areas: competition (general and sector specific) and sector-specific regulation. Its research focuses on economic and legal aspects of monopolies, market dominance, mergers and acquisitions and state aid. The subject of the research is also a market behavior of the biggest Polish regulated companies and influence of public authorities on the energy industry sectors.

CSAiR publishes a series of publications under a common title: Studies and Monographs on Antitrust and Regulation. CSAiR also issues a Yearbook of Antitrust and Regulatory studies. The hole of the forthcoming issue will be focused on energy regulation. You can find more at: www.wz.uw.edu.pl.
